Senior Project Manager - Sales and Use Tax Consulting:

Olivier & Associates LLC is a specialized sales and use tax consulting firm headquartered on Wall Street. We are in our fourth year and growing! If you are interested in an exciting opportunity where your talents and ideas are appreciated and rewarded, please read on.

Project Managers will be responsible for handling projects from start to finish, client relations, business development, interaction with the sales team and all levels of company employees, identification of additional sales opportunities, and supervision and training of staff personnel assigned to projects.

The ideal candidate will be well experienced in handling sales tax audits, voluntary disclosure agreements, compliance reviews, researching sales tax law, supervising others, and other key areas of sales and use tax consulting. State Sales Tax Auditor experience is desired. New York State experience is preferred.

The candidate should be motivated, learn quickly, think analytically, be mindful of customer relations and have an eye for sales opportunities.

Additionally, the ideal candidate will have self-confidence, excellent oral and written communication skills, Microsoft suites skills and research skills.

Excellent Microsoft Excel skills with a solid understanding of the data behind the numbers are essential.

Experience with CCH or other tax research software is required.

Efficiency is vital!

We are a relatively young but growing company so opportunity abounds and flexibility is required.

Office locations may vary through out the United States as we grow, but our concentration is currently in the Northeast from our Wall Street office. Work locations will vary from on-site at clients, the Wall Street office and the successful candidate's home office. Travel, including extended overnight and weekends, may be required.
